Title of Proposed Regulatory Action or Guidance Document Proposed Amendments to the Procedure for Dismissals to Comport with Legislation from the 2020 General Assembly
Title of Proposed Regulatory Action or Guidance Document Chapter 875 of the 2020 Acts of the Virginia General Assembly requires amendments to the Procedure for Adjusting Grievances (Procedure; 8VAC20-90), particularly the procedure for dismissals found in 8VAC20-90-70 . Chapter 875 amended §§ 22.1-311 and 22.1-313 of the Code of Virginia to permit a school board to conduct a teacher grievance hearing before a three-member fact-finding panel consisting of one member selected by the teacher, one member selected by the division superintendent, and an impartial hearing officer selected by the other two panel members to serve as the chairman of the panel. Under the amended law, the school board continues to have the option of appointing a hearing officer or conducting the hearing itself. The legislation also removed the requirement that a teacher grievance hearing be set within 15 days of the request for such hearing and extends from five days to 10 days the minimum period of advanced written notice to the teacher of the time and place of such hearing. Other changes are designed to align the regulatory text with §§ 22.1-311 and 22.1-313 of the Code of Virginia. The Board is also taking action to align 8VAC20-90-70 with §§ 22.1-311 and 22.1-313, as required by § 22.1-308(A)(9) of the Code of Virginia. This action also includes amendments to 8VAC20-90-10 to conform the definition of “grievance” and add a definition of “military status,” pursuant to Chapter 1137 of the 2020 Acts of the Virginia General Assembly and Chapter 477 of the 2021 Acts of the Virginia General Assembly, respectively.

Revisions to the Regulations Establishing Standards for Accrediting Public Schools in Virginia
Brief Overview
Since the last revision to the Standards of Accreditation in 2017, it has become apparent that the Standards of Accreditation merit further review to align better with Board goals. Although Virginia’s public schools have long been regarded as among the best in the nation, the Commonwealth has seen widening gaps in student achievement and a significant slip in comparison with other states on numerous academic measures. For example, the National Assessment of Educational Progress (“NAEP”) shows that Virginia has wide gaps between student proficiency standards on state reading and math assessments and the grade-level proficiency benchmarks: only 38% of Virginia fourth graders and 33% of eighth graders were proficient in reading on the 2019 NAEP, compared with 75% and 76% respectively on the 2019 state fourth- and eighth-grade SOL reading tests. Further compounding these issues is pandemic-related learning loss, which one publisher of widely used K-12 assessments has shown to be worse in Virginia than the national average (see Renaissance: How Kids Are Performing). Moreover, preliminary data from the 2022–2023 SOL assessments indicate that Virginia students continue to see learning loss. Additional information can be found in the VDOE’s Our Commitment to Virginians. The true state of Virginia’s school system, however, does not appear to be adequately captured by the current accreditation system. The Board will revise the current accreditation system to increase transparency, improve student success for all students, and aid in the allocation of Commonwealth resources into Virginia schools. Without a clear picture of the relationship between school performance and student performance, neither the Board nor the General Assembly can find the proper solutions to the problems faced by Virginia students. The Board is considering a full revision of the Standards of Accreditation as an integral step to improving the state of public schools.
