Guidance Memo: Nonpoint Source Nutrient Trading Credit Certification: Delivery Factors for Stream Restoration Projects
Brief Overview
This guidance document will set forth how DEQ calculates delivery factors for stream restoration projects used to generate nonpoint source nutrient credits as directed by Virginia Code § 62.1- 44.19:20. Nutrient credits are measured as pounds of nitrogen, phosphorus, or sediment delivered to the Chesapeake Bay, and delivery factors are used to account for the attenuation that occurs between the credit-generating project and tidal waters. This guidance will reduce uncertainty in the nonpoint source nutrient trading program by establishing credit calculation procedures for stream restoration projects. Prior to this guidance, delivery factors have been calculated on a case-by-case basis.

Reissuance of General VPDES Permit for Discharges of Stormwater from Small Municipal Separate Storm Sewer Systems (9 VAC 25 - 890)
Brief Overview
New guidance on MS4 program implementation will be developed and the purpose of this guidance is to identify changes that have been made in the reissued general permit, to provide DEQ staff and permittees with guidance on implementation of these changes, and to provide guidance on aspects of the permit that have raised questions.

Additional Description	☒ Expedited Rule ☒ Guidance Document ☒ Exempt Rule
Legal Authority	☒ Action required by federal statute ☐ Discretionary action ☒ Action required by state statute
Deregulatory Component	Reissuance of this general permit provides dischargers under this sector with a streamlined permitting process, greatly reducing the costs and time necessary to obtain permit coverage as well as reducing the administrative costs to the Commonwealth. The proposed general permit clarifies differences between traditional local government permittees and nontraditional government entity permittees with conditions tailored to both permittee types eliminating the need to develop separate MS4 general permits for traditional and nontraditional permittees thereby reducing administrative costs to the Commonwealth. The proposed general permit pauses the standard decennial expansion of government entities automatically designated as requiring MS4 permit coverage thereby preventing many currently nonregulated entities from incurring the expense of obtaining permit coverage and complying with permit conditions. The pause on automatic designation eliminates Commonwealth administrative costs of MS4 designation and program development assistance for new permittees. Lastly, the proposed permit eliminates conditions requiring permittees to maintain an electronic database of all known permittee owned and privately owned stormwater management facilities. These requirements are duplicative of the BMP Warehouse Reporting requirements in Part III and eliminating these requirements reduces administrative costs to the permittee.

Amend Virginia Stormwater Management Program Regulation to update the Virginia Runoff Reduction Method and the associated post-construction total phosphorus water quality design standard.
Brief Overview
This action will amend provisions of the Virginia Stormwater Management Program Regulation (9VAC25-870) to incorporate revisions to the Virginia Runoff Reduction Method (VRRM). The VRRM requires updated loading rate calculations to ensure consistency with the Chesapeake Bay Total Maximum Daily Load (TMDL), to accommodate revisions to the Chesapeake Assessment Scenario Tool, and to improve the Commonwealth's climate resiliency by reflecting changes to rainfall amounts and event mean concentration due to climate change. In addition, the VRRM's three land covers do not comprehensively reflect post-construction site conditions. Additionally, the post-construction total phosphorus water quality design standard will be updated, if necessary, in accordance with the 2022-2023 Chesapeake Bay Programmatic Milestones for the Phase III Watershed Implementation Plan. An update would be necessary if the existing water quality design standard does not continue to ensure "nutrient neutral" for future development under the Chesapeake Bay TMDL.

This general permit regulation authorizes the discharge of stormwater from construction activities equal to or greater than 1 acre of land disturbance or less than 1 acre of land disturbance within a larger common plan of development or sale. This regulatory action is needed to ensure existing and new construction activities are covered under this general permit regulation. If the existing general permit is not reissued prior to expiration, no coverage can be extended to newly proposed dischargers. Any new dischargers would be required to wait for reissuance of the general permit or obtain an individual permit. In addition to reissuance of the general permit, this action may also require the publication of guidance documents to further assist dischargers in understanding any new permit requirements and assist local government partners in implementation of the new permit.

Department of Historic Resources (DHR): 21 Guidance Documents

Title of Proposed Regulatory Action or Guidance Document
Deletion of document date
Brief Overview
In 2016, the Department of Historic Resources promulgated regulations resulting in the authorization of 17VAC10-30 pertaining to its Historic Rehabilitation Tax Credit (HRTC) Program established pursuant to the Code of Virginia § 10.1-2202 and § 58.1-339.2 in order to make clarifying changes, revise the fee structure, provide audit reporting and review procedures, and update the eligibility for credits to only those costs incurred after January 1, 2003. It has recently been discovered that two documents incorporated by reference (DIBR) included a date. This date should not have been included as no documents with this date exist and because it means that the documents cannot be updated or revised without promulgating regulations to make the change. As accounting and business practices are constantly evolving, DHR must be able to respond as needed by updating guidance and template documents.

Amend Guidelines for Determining the Length of Stay for Indeterminately Committed Youth (Guidance Document)
Brief Overview
The Guidelines for Determining the Length of Stay for Indeterminately Committed Youth is a guidance document that was last updated in 2015 and sets out the process the department uses to project the length of time a youth indeterminately committed to the department will remain under department care and commitment. Section 66-10(7) of the Code of Virginia directs the board to establish such guidelines and to make them available for public comment. Under the current guidelines, the length of stay is determined based upon the resident's most serious committing offense and the resident's risk level. The department is proposing to update these guidelines so that the resident's length of stay is based partly on these factors, along with the resident's progress in treatment, behavior at the facility, and other components, all of which are considered by a review committee that makes the final determination as to the resident's length of stay.

Title of Proposed Regulatory Action or Guidance Document Market-Based Sourcing Guidelines for Qualifying Property Information and Analytics Firms
Brief Overview During the 2022 Session, the Virginia General Assembly enacted House Bill 453 (2022 Acts of Assembly, Chapter 256) and Senate Bill 346 (2022 Acts of Assembly, Chapter 257), which allow property information and analytics firms that have a signed memorandum of understanding with the Virginia Economic Development Partnership Authority (“the Authority”), and meet certain job creation and investment criteria to use a hybrid sales factor when filing Virginia corporate income tax returns. For sales of other than sales of tangible personal property, the hybrid sales factor uses a market-based sourcing rule for sales of services and the standard cost of performance rule for all other non-service sales. Under this legislation, market-based sourcing is based upon where the benefit of the service is received. This legislation requires the Department to promulgate guidelines regarding the use of market-based sourcing for certain property information and analytics firms. Elective Pass-Through Entity Tax Guidelines
Brief Overview
During the 2022 Session, the Virginia General Assembly enacted House Bill 1121 (2022 Acts of Assembly, Chapter 690) and Senate Bill 692 (2022 Acts of Assembly, Chapter 689), which permit a qualifying pass-through entity (“PTE”) to make an annual election to pay an elective income tax at a rate of 5.75 percent at the entity level. The legislation also allows a corresponding refundable income tax credit to certain PTE owners for any amount of income tax paid by a PTE having Virginia taxable income if such PTE makes the election and pays the elective income tax imposed at the entity level. The legislation allows an individual to claim a credit for taxes paid to other states under laws that are substantially similar to the pass-through entity income tax. This overrules Public Document 21-156 (December 29, 2021), which generally denied a credit for a tax paid to Maryland under that state’s elective pass-through entity income tax. This provision only applies to taxes paid by a pass-through entity under the law of another state that is substantially similar to Va. Code § 58.1-390. Therefore, it does not apply to any other entity-level taxes, such as any franchise, privilege, business, license, or occupation taxes described in Va. Code § 58.1-332.2. The legislation requires the Department to promulgate guidelines regarding the elective pass-through income tax. These guidelines will provide general guidance on the elective pass-through entity income tax, the corresponding income tax credit available to certain PTE owners, and the changes made to the credit for taxes paid to other states.

The credit is equal to the taxpayer's eligible expenditures up to $1,000. The credit is subject to an annual credit cap of $1 million. The legislation requires the Department, in consultation with the Department of Forestry, to develop guidelines implementing the credit.

FAM-VCR-2020 Virginia Cancer Registry User Manual
Brief Overview
VDH intends to amend this guidance document. Regular updates and modifications to cancer registry user manuals are executed in an effort to ensure reporters and state cancer registries remain in accordance with guidelines passed down from the North American Association of Central Cancer Registries (NAACCR), the overarching governing authority that set data quality standards by which the cancer registry must abide and the American Joint Committee on Cancer (AJCC), which set the staging references. These changes include modifications to tumor, node and metastasis (TNM) categories, criteria, or prognostic stage groups; corrections and additions made to histology or topography codes; clarification of concepts or definitions that does not affect staging; and omissions that do not affect staging. Some sections of the updated manual have been retained from the 2020 VCR User Manual because a significant amount of content did not require revisions. Therefore, the updated manual can be used as a reference for coding cases with a diagnosis date of January 1, 2010 and later. Wording and minor coding changes allowed STORE to align more with the National Cancer Institute's Survey, Epidemiology and End Results (SEER) Program.

Virginia Marine Resources Commission (VMRC): 1 Guidance Document

Title of Proposed Regulatory Action or Guidance Document
Tidal Wetlands Guidelines
Brief Overview
Sections 28.2-1301 and 28.2-1308 of the Code of Virginia require the Marine Resources Commission to promulgate and periodically update its tidal wetlands guidelines. The Code stipulates that the guidelines shall be considered in applying the standards for the use and development of wetlands in Tidewater Virginia.

Additional Description	☐ Expedited Rule ☐ Exempt Rule ☒ Guidance Document

Deregulatory Component	Since the last Tidal Wetlands Guidelines update, Boards, agents, contractors, and homeowners have asked for further clarification about what constitutes the best available science used to aid in decision making, and if a Board can consider project costs as part of a permit decision. The proposed edits to the Guidelines will address those two questions. In addition, the proposed edits remove references to the 1) the Chesapeake Bay Preservation Act (CBPA), as recommended by the Attorney General's office; and 2) the 2017 NOAA Intermediate-High scenario projection curve, which also lies landward of the Board's jurisdictional limits. These updates will provide further clarity and guidance for local decision makers in identifying preferred shoreline management options.
